PROFILE

Allamano House is the home of the Consolata Missionaries' theology students in Kenya. It is one of the six theological houses of the Consolata Missionaries; the others being Merrivale (South Africa), Kinshasa (D.R. Congo), São Paulo (Brazil), Bogotá (Colombia), and Bravetta-Roma (Italy). It is located on Langata South Road, next to Tangaza University College, and houses two communities, namely the students' and the professors'. The current Community Plan of Life (CPL) is for the students' community, which is made up of thirty persons (three formators, twenty students and seven others in the Year of Service). Among them are sixteen Kenyans, three Colombians three Congolese, three Tanzanians, two Mozambicans, one Brazilian, one Ethiopian, and one Italian.

I would like to share some words of encouragement for this academic year by taking some reflections from our Annual Spiritual Exercises and from the address of Pope Francis to Seminarians and Novices (Vatican 06/07/2013).

The cultural richness of our community is an opportunity for us to appreciate each other's gifts and talents in an environment of mutual respect and cooperation. As Pope Francis tells us, in the culture of the provisional we should not be afraid to go against the current. Let us cultivate the values of authenticity and transparency; without fear, with our defects that we try to correct, with our limitations which the Lord knows, but also with our generosity in allowing Him to act.

May God, through the intercession of Our Lady Consolata and Blessed Joseph Allamano, be the guide of our life in this academic year.

"Don't be afraid to go against the current!" (Pope Francis)

GENERAL THEME

Inspired by our founder Blessed Allamano's charism and his call for us to be "first saints and then missionaries" and his love for mission, aware of the challenges and values of the modern world, we intend to revisit and contextualize this charism in our community as we prepare for mission, ready to embrace any change of mentality required in order to become authentic and relevant missionaries.

COMMUNITY, HUMAN AND SOCIAL DIMENSION

"You should work without wasting time, with a sincere desire to learn". (SL 160)

This dimension deals with variety of human aspects which are part of our community life, such as relationship among the members, celebrations, economy, etc. We try to promote harmony and make our community a place where its members, with human richness, have a place and role to play, therefore, being helped to grow in a balanced and positive way.

THEME

To foster a harmonious relationship among the members of our community by promoting and appreciating our diverse cultures as we integrate our human, social and economic life.

MEANS

- ◆ To animate community's social celebrations and recreations.
- ◆ To motivate greater participation in recreation and sports.
- ◆ To celebrate the National Days of each member present in our community.
- ◆ To organize and encourage participation in manual work.
- ◆ To create awareness on Tangaza social and cultural events.
- ◆ To animate the community to attend Ordinations and Religious Professions.
- ◆ To mobilize the community to take very good care of our projects; (e.g. rabbits, poultry, farm, manure production, etc).

SPIRITUAL DIMENSION

"First Saints and then Missionaries". (SL 85)

This dimension animates the community in spiritual matters, leading it to know Jesus more deeply, to follow him totally, to discern God's will and to follow it as a rule of life through the IMC charism.

THEME

To revitalize, in this year of the Founder, the call of "First Saints and then Missionaries" and to strengthen our spiritual growth in view of the changing reality of our Institute.

MEANS

- ◆ To collaborate with the liturgical team of the week in inviting missionaries for Mondays sharing.
- ◆ To encourage the devotion to Our Lady Consolata (Hymns, Rosary, Sharing...).
- ◆ To have Mass in Italian on the last Saturday of the month.
- ◆ To have Mass in Swahili on Tuesday and meditation in place of the homily.
- ◆ To organize the Annual Retreat and Monthly Recollections.
- ◆ To celebrate the opening Mass of the year of the Blessed Founder together with Consolata Sisters (at Flora/Allamano House).
- ◆ To celebrate the Feast of Blessed Allamano together with Consolata Seminary (at Consolata Seminary).
- ◆ To have formator's input on Tuesdays.
- ◆ To facilitate the Mass of our Founder every 16th of the Month.
- ◆ To have a sharing about our Founder, IMC/MC Protector Saint(s) and the Year of Faith on Thursdays which fall within the 16th of every month by the team on duty.
- ◆ To have sharing on Fridays led by the Liturgical team on duty.
- ◆ To organize the Community Prayer Day at the grave site of González.

INTELLECTUAL DIMENSION

“Piety can form a good hermit, but only knowledge united with piety can form good missionary” (SL 142)

This dimension deals with the academic matters of the community; it acts as a link between the community, Tangaza

University College and other learning institutions.

THEME

We intend to be knowledgeable by using all means at our disposal and assisting each other in order to widen our understanding of the world and life in general.

MEANS

- ◆ To encourage group discussions.
- ◆ To encourage the good use of our library (to monitor the flow of books).
- ◆ To organize a short basic computer course (twice a semester).
- ◆ To keep the diary of the house.
- ◆ To encourage the members of the community to contribute to the IMC Media.
- ◆ To forward relevant proposals on academic matters to Tangaza University College.
- ◆ To update and encourage the community to participate in the activity of Tangaza and others institutions.
- ◆ To animate the whole community in the publication of our magazine, “Echoes of Mercy”.
- ◆ To encourage silence and to create a conducive environment for studies.
- ◆ To organize the intellectual Forum Day, once a year.
- ◆ To follow the subscriptions of academic magazines and journals.
- ◆ To organize an intellectual Symposium with an input from an external facilitator.

PASTORAL AND MISSIONARY DIMENSION

“Consider everything important because one day all of it will help you to do good work.” (SL 386).

This dimension organizes the pastoral activities of the community, highlighting essential qualities for missionaries, the demands of missionary vocation and the need to be committed to the pastoral and missionary work of the Church.

THEME

To carry out our pastoral activities with sincere motives, embracing our charism and contextualizing it according to the new demands of mission, guided by our Pastoral Plan.

MEANS

- ◆ To encourage teamwork spirit among pastoral groups.
- ◆ To organize with those in the year of service about sharing their pastoral activity .
- ◆ To animate the community on the missionary month (October).
- ◆ To collaborate with Formators in their periodic visit to our places of pastoral.
- ◆ To animate the community to assimilate the ideas of the Allamano House Pastoral Plan.
- ◆ To update the Allamano House Pastoral Plan.
